Final Notice to the Holders of Bonds to the Northern Pacific Railroad Company

Under the Plan of Reorganization ratified by the decree of the Court, the time in which Bondholders should be allowed to participate in the benefits of the Plan, by the conversion of Bonds into Preferred Stock, was left to the discretion of the Purchasing Committee. More than three years having passed since this right was given, and more than nine tenths of the Bondholders having converted their Bonds, the Committee deem it time for closing their labors, hereby give notice that the right of converting Bonds and receiving Preferred Stock will terminate on the 30th day of June, 1879.

Circulars giving information how the conversion is made can be had at the office of the Northern Pacific R. R. Co., No. 28 Fifth avenue, New York.

The original stock will be exchanged for stock under the Plan up to the same time.

PARTICULAR NOTICE.

JOHNSON'S NEW METHOD OF HARMONY,

By A. N. JOHNSON ($1 00) Just Published.

This new book is so simple and clear in its explanations, that any music teacher or amateur can get an excellent idea of the science by simply reading it through. At the same time the most thorough course is marked out for those who wish to complete a musical education. Without work for many months, without, or still better with a teacher. Therefore you can now learn that here not half so long as to be able to do so.

THE GOSPEL OF JOY

is received with by all who have examined it, and is, in itself, already a great success. Send for it. Use it in Conventions, Sabbath School Gatherings, Prayer Meetings, Camp, Praise and Prayer meetings, etc.

"ENTERPRISE."

Many Republicans have expressed surprise that the Commercial was the only Bangor paper that made even mention of the Boston Traveller's interview with Hon Hannibal Hamlin The Commercial had a general idea of this interview before; it appeared in print and would have made some use of it had it not considered its space too valuable to be devoted to the bloody shirt and a revival of sectional hate.—Commercial, May 19

"In accordance with the announcement in the Commercial some fifteen or more of the faithful assembled last evening at the office of ex Clerk of Courts Brett to discuss anew the political situation, listen to the report of the committee and attend to general business * * When the Commercial representative left the room there seemed to be a general feeling," etc — Commercial, May 20

We hope that Mr Bass s young man will continue to advertise his peculiar qualities and ideas of civilization as freely as he has of late There is a certain sort of morbid interest excited although it tends toward nausea, in seeing a person exultingly parading his own moral deformities and making a merit of what decent people regard with disgust Careless of making himself shameful, he naturally has no scruples in branding his associates, and in bragging that a correspondent of the Boston Traveller hastened to impart to the editor of a scurrilous Democratic paper the private conversation of Senator Hamlin in his own house he presents a brace of "enterprising journalists" in a light that they may perhaps deem enviable And in perfect character with this self protraiture the Commercial man actually boasts that after sharing in the Traveller man's violation of private confidence, he would freely have violated the confidence of his pal by anticipating him in printing his "interview" if he had not considered his "space too valuable" to warrant stealing the other fellow s trash

These boasts lead us to notice and denounce what we intended to charitably ignore as one of the most pitiable exhibitions of the nasty side of "journalism" that we have lately observed A young man who sought introduction and obtained entrance to Senator Hamlin's house as a matter of private courtesy expressed a desire to manufacture an "interview," which was politely but firmly and positively refused He was informed that the Senator had nothing which he desired at that time to publish in any newspaper, that he never sought the public attention by such methods and declined to permit the use of his name or conversation in any way He treated the young man with his usual politeness and after having so explicitly prohibited interviewing and receiving prompt assurance that his wishes were fully understood and would be respected, he exchanged a few words of common-place civility with his caller during his brief stay

It now seems that this "enterprising" young man rushed directly to the hired mud flinger of the Bangor Democracy, and boastingly expanded a general idea of this interview " of which the latter took notes The Commercial promptly advertised that the important revelation would appear in a day or two, and four or five days after the Boston Traveller printed nearly a column of manufactured conversation, dressed out by this enterprising young man to suit his own ideas and attributed to Senator Hamlin as directly as by the use of his name It proved the merest platitude as the "interviewer" lacked even the inventive power of producing anything pointed bu he succeeded in furnishing the Commercial with a subject for its melancholy squibs, and in writing himself down as —— well an exceedingly undesirable person to admit to one's parlor. The enterprising editor of the Commercial is anxious to share the laurels and we fully concede to the pair the tribute par nobile fratrum

The second paragraph quoted above exhibits our contemporary setting up in the character of the sneak on his own account, and with obvious success By his own account in successive issues it would appear that several private citizens assembled on two recent occasions for some private consultation in the private office of one of their number We were not present on either occasion, and have no knowledge or desire to obtain knowledge concerning the private conversation of those gentlemen, beyond what some of them have chanced to say to us since It was neither our business nor our desire to report their conversations for they were neither public nor assumed to be of public importance The "enterprising" youth of the Commercial, or possibly the unobtrusive Mr Bass, conceived it to be his duty to share the confidences of those gentlemen In purporting to assert this right our "enterprising" contemporary evidently did not deem it sufficient that he should claim to have been admitted to such "confidence," but takes pains to make his readers believe one of two things either that one of the prominent Republican citizens mentioned attended the private meeting with his friends as the "Commercial representative" to give the editor for publication the private conversation of his associates, or that the editor himself was present and "left the room when he got ready to write out his report

We have charity enough for the young man to presume that he is unable to appreciate the absolute outrage of the former suggestion, as he must be unconscious of the shame of the alternative position in which he places himself

We can imagine some desperate bohemian inspired by bad whiskey and urged by the cravings for more, to act the part of a sneak in stealing information that would bring him a fat price, but for a person to advertise himself boastfully in a character that has been loathed by decent people of all ages, for the sake of, printing mushy gossip containing neither truth nor amusement, is a sort of achievement the peculiar glory of which will hardly be grudged to our "enterprising" contemporary

We had nearly forgotten to apologize to the public for so much notice of so really contemptible a subject.

WE FLATLY CONTRADICT YOU, MR. VANCE.

Mr. Vance says he was requested to state the fact, which was also within his own knowledge, that the partisan school literature spoken of by Mr. Blaine is non-existent. During the war a few such works were circulated, but since then no southern child had seen one —Senate, Monday.

Mr Zebulon B. Vance, we take issue with you there, and are prepared to prove the falsehood of your assertion In THE WHIG AND COURIER of Oct. 24 and 27, 1876, we published some five or more columns of extracts from a text-book then in use in the schools of the South, containing the most scandalous perversions of history, the most poisonous teachings of disloyalty and the most outrageous justifications of treason. We copied from the volume purchased at a book-store in Winchester, Virginia, by Capt H. N. Fairbanks, of this city, on the 12th of October, 1876. It was entitled "The New School History of the United States of America," compiled by J S Blackburn (suggestive name,) Principal of Potomac Academy, Alexandria, and W. M McDonald, A. M , Principal of Male High School, Louisville, Kentucky This joint literary offspring of the "sacred soil," and the "dark and bloody ground" was then in use as a text-book in the public schools of Virginia, not only in the schools for the children of ex rebels, but also forced upon the colored schools It was published in Baltimore and had then passed through no less than eight editions the copy from which we quoted having issued from the press in 1875

Our readers will remember the villanous character of the book, and if Zebulon B. wants some specimens we can furnish him with choice extracts from a disloyal and treasonable school-book, not of the war period, but in use in the schools of the South in 1876, a decade after the close of the war

THE CONSPIRACY AGAINST THE BALLOT

[From the N Y Tribune]

When the Democrats in Congress began their manœuvres for the nullification of the Election laws, the crippling of the Executive authority the establishment of State supremacy over the nation, and in general the wiping out as they expressed it of all the legislation of the war period, the Tribune declared that they were engaged in a conspiracy for the destruction of free elections Every day since then has multiplied the evidences of their deep-laid plan to remove the safeguards from the polls No reasonable and impartial observer of the course of affairs in Washington can now doubt that the representatives of the party in Congress have deliberately set themselves to so hamper the Executive and mutilate the laws that at the next Presidential election the protection of the ballot-box will be intrusted exclusively to the White Leagues and Rifle Clubs of the South, and the repeaters, shoulder hitters dram-sellers, and unnaturalized foreigners of the large Northern cities. What will be the consequence when the wolf keeps the fold we know too well At the North the Democracy has always been notorious for its hostility to all manner of precautions against election frauds It opposes registration, opposes the appointment of supervisors, opposed nonpartisan managers of polling places, opposed the most obvious regulations for the verification of the count, and when it has had the chance it has cheated, and bullied and created scandals which will always fill a black page in our political history At the South it is quite within the mark to say that the Democratic party has never made a pretence of valuing a free ballot The right of voting there has always been looked upon as the exclusive privilege of the white Democrats When the suffrage was conferred upon the negro, the Chivalry considered that act of justice a monstrous exercise of the tyranny of their conquerors For while they refused to take any part in elections, and when they grew tired of this ruinous policy, they came back to the polling places with guns in their hands and drove the negroes away. The plain English of the situation is that the Southern Democrat has no conception of a free ballot, the idea of such a thing is repugnant to all his political notions; and there never has been free suffrage in the South except under the protection of the United States Government

The cry that the States alone are entitled to regulate elections means nothing except that the Democrats intend to hold power if they can by the same violent and dishonest means which they employed in winning it, and which they have always employed to the full extent of their opportunity They have tried to deprive the Federal Government of the right to execute its own laws, and have failed They are trying to abolish the offices necessary for the operation of the election statutes and they will fail in that, too The next part of the scheme is the worst device of all It is to take from the Federal Government the right to remove from State to United States Courts prosecutions instituted against Federal office s for acts done in the discharge of their duty The consequence of that arrangement would be an absolute nullification of the Election laws in every Southern State We have seen in numberless instances already how the machinery of the local courts has been used to prevent the punishment of criminals indicted for fraud, violence and intimidation at the polls,—how supervisors and marshals have been arrested upon the charge of "interfering with elections," and the forms of justice have been prostituted to secure immunity for the most flagrant offences If the United States could not remove prosecutions against its officers into its own courts the Southern Legislatures would immediately pass laws making it a crime to carry out the provisions of the Election statutes, and there would be no power to save the Federal functionaries from being sent to the penitentiary for simply doing their duty Here would be the establishment of State supremacy in its most dangerous form It would make little difference to the Democracy after that whether the Election laws were repealed or not Let the State Legislatures make it a penal offence to execute them and the desired end would be secured in the manner most agreeable probably to Bourbon sentiment These gentlemen would rather defy the Government than not

None of these schemes will succeed; but it is important to expose them in order that the people may see the depth of this conspiracy against a free ballot to which the Democratic party has deliberately committed itself. It is not surprising that a plot so black should have been discussed only in a secret caucus. Bold as the Democrats are, they dare not open such schemes to the sunlight of free debate

TAXES DUE TO THE GOVERNMENT

The Senate Monday received a communication from the Secretary of the Treasury in response to a resolution, showing that the amount of the direct tax due and uncollected from the eleven States which participated in the late rebellion aggregate $2,725,104, and that the balances due from all other States and Territories amount to $455,228. The principal items forming this latter total are $207,685 for Wisconsin, $162,648 for New Mexico; $62,382 for Kansas; $35,141 for Oregon, and $26,982 for Utah. Offsetting war claims have been presented, but not yet adjusted, from Wisconsin and Kansas. Under the law of 1862 a direct tax was made chargeable in insurrectionary States upon lands, the proportionate amounts to be collected from the owners thereof. This act provides that the direct tax charged against each parcel of land shall be a lien thereon until paid. That lien evidently remains upon each and every parcel in those States upon which a direct tax has not been paid. The States which adhered to the Union assumed for themselves the collection and payment of their respective apportionments of the total amount of the direct tax levied, viz: $20,000,000. The amounts reported as still due from the eleven States referred to are about as follows: Virginia, $286,000; North Carolina, $199,000; South Carolina, $63,000; Georgia, $502,000, Alabama, $529,000, Mississippi, $343,000; Louisiana, $71,000; Tennessee, $288,000, Arkansas, $106,000, Florida, $71,000; Texas, $174,000. Secretary Sherman says; "There can be no doubt but that the Secretary of the Treasury is charged with the duty of collecting this direct tax under the provisions of existing laws. To leave these portions uncollected will be an unconstitutional and inequitable discrimination against those States which have paid their respective quotas of the tax under the statute of 1861 and other acts The last legal suspension of the collection expired January 1, 1869. It remains for Congress to decide whether the collections shall proceed under the methods provided for by the existing statutes or whether additional legislation is necessary The protracted suspension only renders final collection of the tax more difficult and uncertain, and if further legislation be necessary it should be immediate "

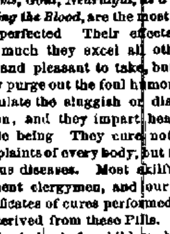
Ayer's Cathartic Pills

For all the purposes of a Family Physic,



CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach and Breath Headache, Erysipelas Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood, are the most congenial purgative yet perfected Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure They purge out the foul humors of the blood, they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organs into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most skilful physicians, most eminent clergymen, and our best citizens, send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated they are easy to take, and being purely vegetable they are entirely harmless.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

Warner's Silver Bill.

THE BACK-BONE OF THE JOB BROKEN.

The Bonus to Bull on Owners Wiped Out.

FORTY SIXTH CONGRESS—First Session.

Senate

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 20.

Mr Wallace asked leave to introduce a bill authorizing the President to employ the military and naval forces to enforce the laws whenever their execution is resisted by combinations too powerful to be suppressed by judicial authorities, and preventing the military from being used as a posse comitatus except in cases authorized by the constitution and laws.

Mr Edmunds objected to the introduction of the bill on the ground that previous notice had not been given.

Mr McDonald withdrew the bill and gave notice that he should ask leave to-morrow.

The Senate resumed consideration of the legislative appropriation bill and Mr Saunders read a short speech in opposition to the bill, saying that the use of the military is necessary to secure fair elections in the South. Why he said, there is no such thing as a national election. Elections are either State or municipal. Senators and representatives are agents of and responsible to the States. There has been no prospect for our form of government.

Mr Wbyte continued and in the course of his remarks spoke of the sons of Massachusetts repudiating the old States rights doctrine of that State, which occasioned a colloquy between himself and Mr Hoar, after which he referred to the bill reported by Mr Marshall in the House in 1800, providing for the removal of the military from the polls on election days for the prevention of their interference.

Mr. Conkling related all the circumstances of the passage of that bill and said he would follow where the Senator from Maryland would lead and vote for a bill to punish such abominable conduct as led to the passage of that bill by the House.

Mr Edmunds said there was such a bill now.

Mr Conkling thanked Mr. Edmunds and said there was on the statute book the law of 1865 which the united majority of both branches was striving to break down.

Mr Jonas of Louisiana spoke against the use of troops at the polls and said troops at the polls was a familiar sight to the people of Louisiana.

Mr Kellogg of Louisiana asked him to specify the day and polls at which troops were seen.

Mr Jonas said troops were constructively at the polls or ready to be there at a moments notice, and that they were constantly ready for action offensively was conspicuous. He then rehearsed the abduction of the Kellogg government.

Mr Kellogg said if he had time he could show his colleague's statements to be incorrect. At 10 o'clock the Senate proceeded to vote. Mr Edmunds made a number of motions, all of which were lost. The bill was then read a third time and passed.

The Senate took up the contingent deficiency bill but without action adjourned till Thursday.

House.

The House resumed consideration of the bill to amend the laws relating to the disbursements from State to Federal Courts and Mr Warner concluded his argument against it.

Mr Frye moved to lay the bill on the table but the motion was defeated. The House then proceeded to vote on the motion to reconsider the yeas and nays being demanded. The vote on Mr Frye's motion was a strict party one with the exception of Mr Conger, who voted in the affirmative for the purpose of moving a reconsideration. Of the Greenbackers, Jones, Ladd and Ford voted in the affirmative, and Rice, March, Scovenson, Weaver, De La Matyr and Gillette in the negative.

The motion to lay on the table the motion to reconsider the vote was agreed to. The House resumed consideration of the Warner silver bill, the question being on the third section, allowing deposit of bullion at any mint and its being coined for the benefit of the owner. Conger moved to lay the third section of the silver bill on the table. Defeated. The adoption of this section would kill the bill.

After some skirmishing a vote was taken on Mr Fort's amendment and it was rejected. Considerable excitement was manifested during the taking of the vote. The question then recurred on the third section and it was agreed to. The fourth section, which provides that charges for melting and refining shall be fixed by the director of the mint, was taken up.

Mr Marsh submitted an amendment that the charges shall be the difference between the market value of bullion and legal tender value of coin. Agreed to.

As the effect of this amendment is practically the same as Mr. Fort's except that it did not involve the opponents of silver coinage in any inconsistency, the vote was watched with keen interest on both sides, and the result greeted with applause on the Republican side. Messrs. Ladd and Murch voted against the amendment.

A motion to reconsider and to lay that motion on the table was then made and carried. The result was again greeted with applause on the Republican side, and when Mr. Warner moved an adjournment the motion was met with shouts of triumphant laughter on the Republican side and by the sarcastic inquiry on the part of Mr. Conger "why gentlemen should obstruct the public business and whether there was no remedy for these revolutionary proceedings."

The motion was agreed to and the House at 4 30 adjourned.

HOLLAND

Heavy Failures.

LONDON, May 20 Loly, Solbe & Co., merchants in the Spanish trade, have failed. W. Polac and Company and Symons and Company both of Rotterdam, have failed in consequence of the failure of the Africanische Handelsvereinizing. The liabilities of the latter fall heavily on the Memingen Bank, the Darmstadst Bank and the Bank of Rotterdam. One of the Africanische Handelsvereinizing tried to commit suicide at Antwerp, another fled to Spain with his family. The latter, whose name is Piccolo, was a man of great commercial and financial influence and one of the leaders of the Liberal party.

NEW JERSEY

A Bold Robbery.

NEW YORK, May 20. Sunday night a horse car left the track on the Haledon Avenue at Patterson, New Jersey, and about twenty passengers got out and walked. When they had gone a short distance, they were attacked by a party of masked robbers. The passengers defended themselves vigorously and drove the robbers away. One of the robbers caught Mrs. Jenette, wife of a silk manufacturer of Patterson, by the throat and choked her until she fainted and then robbed her of a gold necklace. No arrests.

GREAT BRITAIN.

The English Interest in Erie.

LONDON, May 20. A meeting of bondholders and shareholders of the Erie Railroad was held here to-day. Sir Edward Watkin presided and read the report of the Erie Railway Co., up to Sept. 30th, 1878, and accounts of the reconstruction trustees. Resolutions were unanimously adopted approving the trustees' report and accounts, also expressing the satisfaction of the English proprietary that large interests in the company's bonds and stocks were being taken by American holders.

MASSACHUSETTS.

Reardon's Bail.

BOSTON, May 20. Edward Reardon was liberated on $400 bail, and Thomas Murphy held in default of $600, for manslaughter in causing the death of Hattie Goodspeed at Somerville.

A LIVELY SENATE DEBATE.

Senator Blaine's Speech

AGGRESSIVE AND UNANSWERABLE.

Eaton, Bayard, Williams, Hampton and Morgan on the Defensive.

Weak Attempts to Parry the Senator's Keen Thrusts.

[Special to Boston Journal.]

WASHINGTON, May 19. Mr. Blaine won new laurels to-day in the Senate Chamber. He had a packed audience, the British, Danish and Brazilian Ministers, with several Secretaries of Legation occupying the Diplomatic gallery, while General Sherman and other notables were on the floor. The House not being in session a quorum of the Representatives were present and the beauty and fashion of the metropolis graced the scene. Mr. Blaine was in the best of health and spirits. He is a man of stately presence, with a broad-shouldered, commanding figure, a well-poised head, expressive features and eyes that add force and give additional point to his remarks. He spoke without notes, occasionally referring to a memorandum on his desk behind which he moved to and fro advancing and retreating. There was no hesitation, no hemming and hawing while waiting for a word, no gaps to release the attention of his listeners, but he went right ahead in his characteristic, explosive style, now hitting some senator on the other side of the Chamber, then reading a passage from Webster or some other authority bearing on the question and using it as a text for terse argument, now indulging in a tilt of words; yet through his sarcasms and his reasonings and his repartees there ran a vein of old-fashioned practical common sense that was unanswerable.

Mr Blaine's Opponents

Senator Eaton, to whom Mr. Blaine had a good deal to say, was evidently not happy and complained several times that he was misquoted and misrepresented. He winced under the aggressive sentences of the Senator from Maine and endeavored to parry them, but did not display his customary good nature and came off second best.

Senator Bayard, whose grandfather, father and uncle have also been United States Senators, came to the defence of his father, of whom he spoke with an earnestness that carried weight. He failed to show, however, that there was no necessity for some of the orders issued by Gen. Schenck during the war to prevent the members of the secession army, at home on leave, from voting at the polls.

Cerro Gordo Williams, as the new Senator from Kentucky, is called because of participation in that Mexican battle, became exasperated by an allusion to him by Mr. Blaine as one, who, while others became secessionists because their States seceded, became secessionists because his State did not secede. By way of retaliation he said that he did not purchase a substitute. This enabled Mr. Blaine to explain how he came to obtain a substitute, who proved to be a worthless fellow. Eaton came to the rescue of Williams, but Blaine turned the laugh on both of them.

Wade Hampton had next to rise and explain. Mr. Blaine, who had previously read some inflamatory passages from an address by Hampton's brother-in-law, read from an address by the Confederate cavalry leader, in which he had compared the South to the Prussians. The French had humiliated the Prussians at Berlin, but they had revenged themselves at Waterloo and had occupied Paris. Mr Blaine asked whether this was rhetoric or an insinuation that the South is to have its Waterloo and Paris triumphs, and the gallant South Carolinian had to admit that it was only rhetoric, although it was very evident that his object had been to fire the young Southern heart.

Senator Morgan was not more successful in defending the school books printed for Southern use, which Mr. Blaine exposed to ridicule.

The speech of the Senator from Maine, while thoroughly aggressive, was replete with terse sayings and amusing anecdotes, and it will make a valuable addition to the Republican campaign literature of this extra session.

SPRING SPORTS.

The "Bean Pot" Tramps.

BOSTON, May 20. The second day of the "Bean Pot" six-hours-go-as-you-please walk between professionals from Massachusetts and Rhode Island, and the winning Maine team of last week's contest resulted as follows

Maine—Chapman, 33 miles, 7 laps; Briggs, 31 miles, 1 lap. Massachusetts—Lacourse, 28 miles, 4 laps; King, 30 miles, 5 laps. Rhode Island—McDuff, 36 miles, 3 laps; Sleney 31 miles, 6 laps.

Rhode Island leads. Maine runs three men to-morrow night. The contest to-morrow will be very exciting, as Parker, the winner of last week's tournaments, starts; also Rounds of Saccarappa and Holbborn, the colored lad, who is supposed to be the best six-hour man in Massachusetts, will be Parker's rival. There is great interest in the race. Parker's chances are considered best. McDuff has the best record, beating Parker's time by one lap.

THE FLOODS.

Austrian Villages Inundated.

LONDON, May 20. A correspondent who has just traversed the Danube from Giurgevo to Buda Pesth telegraphs as follows: "The Danube is very high. A short distance above Bazias, where the Austrian shore becomes low and flat, the flood extends a great distance inland. Between this point and Belgrade the river is 5 to 15 miles wide. At Belgrade it is twenty. Nearly all the Austrian villages between Pesth and Bazias have water in the streets on the river side. The inhabitants informed me the water was within two feet of the highest point ever recorded and still rising. The floods continuing so late in the season must cause great damage to crops. All grain and other growing produce in Roumania, Bulgaria and Austrian Hungary, not within reach of high water, are looking finely and promise a bountiful harvest.

NEW YORK CITY.

A Burned Bark

NEW YORK, May 20. The Italian bark Amalfi, with a cargo of 2900 bbls. of petroleum, caught fire off Staten Island and burned to the water's edge. The crew were saved. Loss $30,000.

Yellow Fever

The schooner Hattie M. Howes, Capt. Howes, is reported at Baracoa with the mate dead and others of the crew sick with yellow fever. The vessel is owned by Rowland Howe and others of Providence.

WASHINGTON.

The Chinese in California.

NEW YORK, May 20. J. G. Kennedy agent of the Chinese six companies in Washington, referring to General Grant's remarks about Chinese immigration, says there was no trouble in California between natives and Chinese until foreigners of other countries began to arrive there, and then discovered that Chinese labor interfered with theirs, and it is from that class that the Chinese receive the greatest hostility.

The Freedmen's Trust Company.

The Select Senate Committee and Commissioners of the Freedmen's Trust Company met to-day. A dividend of 50 per cent. has been paid and it is expected that 20 per cent. more will soon be paid.

THE WEATHER.

WAR DEPT, OFFICE CHIEF SIGNAL OFFICER, Washington, D. C., May 20—10, P. M.

Probabilities.

For New England: Falling followed by rapidly rising barometer; increasing and warmer southerly winds, veering to cooler, northwesterly or northerly winds; partly cloudy weather and frequent rains. Cautionary signals continue at Eastport, Boston and Woods Hole.

CONDENSED DESPATCHES.

Magdalen Islands advices report the seal fishery the best for many years.

MAINE NEWS.

FROM PORTLAND.

The Witham Trial.

PORTLAND, May 20. The trial of Dr. Charles H. Witham for killing his illegitimate infant was commenced in the Superior Court before Judge Bonney at 10 o'clock to-day. Mrs. Witham was present. Dr. Witham is a good looking man with brown hair, red whiskers and moustache and is carefully dressed. He appeared calm and appreciative of his situation.

County Attorney Haskell in opening said the State would attempt to prove that he promised the girl to procure an abortion which he attempted several times; that after delivery Margaret Smith saw the child alive, gasping for breath, with blood gushing from its throat; that Dr. Witham wrapped it up and carried it away under his overcoat. Annie Small, the mother, is a girl of eighteen, of small size, and with a pleasant face. She testified to her seduction by the prisoner.

LAUNCHED.

BATH, May 20. Charles B. Harrington, builder of "Fearless," "Brende," and other fast sailing yachts, launched to-day probably the most able and beautifully modelled yacht of them all, named the "Eldine." She is of twenty-three tons and owned by A. F. Copeland of Boston.

RUNNING AWAY.

With his Wife's Money.

LANCASTER, N. H., May 20 A sensation is created by the sudden departure of Geo. H. Colby, late editor of the Fairfield Maine Chronicle with $3000 of his wife's money. He passed through Woodsville Monday, enroute for New York. An officer is after him and his arrest is certain.

FROM ALFRED

The S. J. Court.

ALFRED, May 20. The Supreme Judicial Court opened to-day, Judge Symonds presiding. This is his first term in York County. There was a large attendance of the bar. The actions on the continued docket numbered four hundred and seventy-eight. The usual proportion are marked for trial, and the indications are that the term will be short, not over two weeks.

FROM DAMARISCOTTA.

Barn Burned

DAMARISCOTTA, May 20. A barn and the contents consisting of farming implements and hay, on the farm of Edward Perkins, of New Castle was burned this afternoon. It was probably set by two children who were playing in it and who narrowly escaped. Loss between $600 and $700; insured for $400.

FROM GARDINER

The Election in Ward Five Decided.

GARDINER, May 20 The Board of Aldermen last night, after examining the remaining persons whose names were contested, finally seated Nickerson, the opposition candidate, as Alderman elect from ward five, as after striking out the names of those persons on both sides whom they considered as voting illegally, the balance still remained in his favor The opinion is expressed that the trouble connected with this election will have a bad influence on candidates in future elections where the vote is close.

"Truth lies in a nut-shell," and "brevity is the soul of wit." To be brief, when the shell is broken the truth will be discovered, that, the Grand Central Hotel on Broadway, New York, now kept on both plans, the American $2.50 or $3.00, and the European $1.00, and upwards, per day, gives more satisfaction for the same money, than any other first-class house in Gotham. An elegant Restaurant, at moderate prices, is conducted by the Grand Central.

DUPREZ & BENEDICT'S MINSTRELS On Thursday and Friday evenings of this week Duprez & Benedict's Minstrel Troupe will appear in Norombega Hall The tickets are now on sale at Davenport's music store The Providence Morning Star says, "Duprez & Benedict's Minstrels were warmly greeted by a portion of their many friends here last evening, although the rain naturally detracted from the number present. The old time favorites looked well and performed excellently, nearly every song and act being encored. The ballad singing was especially fine, repetition after repetition being demanded and the dancing and variety business elicited shouts of laughter. It is a matter of regret that the engagements of the managers forbid other performances here for awhile, but we hope that no long period will intervene before our citizens will have the pleasure of seeing this fine troupe again."

THE GRAND TRUNK ROAD. Sir Henry Tyler, president of the Grand Trunk road, who arrived in Montreal Saturday from England, stated to a reporter that his principal object in coming was to secure an independent through line for his road to Chicago, and, "by hook or crook," he would have it for the benefit of Canada. The million and a half received from the Dominion government for the Riviere Du-loup branch is to be used in completing the connection with the Queen City of the West. Sir Henry further said he felt it would be premature to say anything as yet in regard to what understanding might be arrived at between the Great Western and Grand Trunk roads, and objected to the use of the word amalgamation in that connection as likely to prove irritating to the Great Western people. "We shall know more about it by and by," said he, "upon the arrival of Col. Gray, president, and Mr. Ball, one of the directors, now on their way to this country."

THE STRADMAN CASE.

A Further Chapter of False Pretences

DEXTER, May 19th.

To the Editor of the Whig & Courier

It may interest some who have heard of the fraud in the pulpit at Dover to know that two weeks ago last Saturday the now notorious Steadman wrote a letter to Rev. A. Battles, of your city, and pastor of the Universalist church here, announcing the fact that he had concluded to resign his pastorate at Dover, and thereafter preach the Gospel of salvation from a Universalist, stand-point. He said that he should make announcement accordingly to his congregation the next day, but he should not remain in Dover, as the effect would be disatrous to the Baptist church of which he had been pastor, and as "a man of honor" he could not do anything that would bring about such a result. He claimed that he had thought upon the matter for years, and it was not a hasty step that he was about to take, but one taken after the deep of thought and the most mature deliberation. He wrote that he was known to be very liberal in his ideas at the time he was ordained, but that it was thought that "time and practice" would bring him around all right. He furthermore stated that in his sermons he had avoided all the points upon which his mind was in doubt.

Mr. Battles is one of those gentlemen who are blessed by the Creator with a good degree of hard, common sense, and on inquiring about the matter, concluded that Steadman was not of the class that he should encourage to enter the Universalist ministry.

The next day after this letter was written to Mr. Battles, the Baptists at Dover shut Steadman out of their pulpit for palming off as his own sermons that he had stolen bodily from different divines of great eminence and learning. With subsequent developments in Steadman's case, four readers are doubtless acquainted. How it developed that he had never had a wife who was killed; how he sent false despatches to that effect himself; how he took money that his parishioners contributed to defray the "funeral expenses" of his wife, how he deceived and married an estimable young lady in Foxcroft; and how, when his true character was being developed he "cut sticks" and left town for other and distant parts of the country.

LETTER FROM LEADVILLE.

The Wickedest City in America.

To the Whig and Courier

LEADVILLE, Colorado, Sunday, May 4.

In my last letter, I started to tell your readers something about the town, or perhaps I should say the city of Leadville, but rather wandered from my subject, and only told them the way to get here, and also advised them not to come. The same route is open now to all who wish to come, and I also reiterate my advice to stay away, and if possible in stronger terms than before, for after two months' investigation and mature deliberation I have come to the conclusion that Leadville is the wickedest city in America, and if your readers will accompany me this pleasant Sunday evening in a walk through the town, I think they will agree with me. I hardly think it is necessary to confine that statement to America, for in my opinion, I should be perfectly safe to include the rest of the world.

We will start on our ramble, if you please, about three quarters of a mile below town, at the cemetery, where it is said they keep graves dug in stock—mostly mens' sizes—just the same as undertakers keep caskets, or grocers flour and molasses—and coming up street the first thing that attracts our attention is a fourteen-mule team, hitched to what Down-Easters would call a six-horse wagon, with a four-horse wagon hitched behind that, and a two-horse wagon behind that again. The driver rides the near pole, or wheel mule, and drives them all with a single gem running to the leaders. I thought before I came here, that if I could not get anything else to do, I would drive team, but when I saw six, eight, ten twelve, fourteen and sometimes sixteen mules hitched up together and all driven by one single line, called a "jerk rein," the driver just the color of his mules, and apparently not a whit more intelligent, I concluded that I would not drive a team. Still, I must learn how it is done, for I cannot return to Maine and feel perfectly satisfied and easy in my mind till I learn how to drive a mule team with a "jerk rein."

Coming just behind the mule team, is a string of "boomers," or packmules. They are mostly little fellows, that will not weigh much, if any, over five and some of them not more than three hundred pounds net, they will take from two to four hundred pounds on their backs, carry it anywhere that a man can go, and will get their own living summer or winter, and lay up on a greasy dish rag once a week. They are comical looking little fellows with their long ears and little wisps of tails and hair growing down all over their faces

Rather a laughable incident occurred during our stage ride from Canon City in connection with the "boomers." Among the passengers was a lengthy son of Maine, who said that he stood six feet four in his stocking feet, and also volunteered the information that his name was H. Hatch, and that he was from "Waldo County, town of Knox ten miles back of Belfast Maine." Shortly after leaving Canon he espied a venerable looking "boomer" perched up on the side of a mountain precipice, where it was a mystery how he ever got up there, and more of a mystery how he would ever get down without falling and breaking his neck. As it happened it was the first specimen our friend had ever seen and he exclaimed, "what do you call that thing?" One of the passengers who happened to be from Texas told him that that was what they called a "boomer" in this country. "A burem," said Hatch "Well I'll be ——, that's what you call a bureau, is it? My wife has got a bureau in her parlor at home, and she considers it a kind of an ornament, but I don't believe that she would consider that thing very ornamental."

The streets are full of teams of every description, and in walking a few rods you meet people of almost every nationality—except Chinamen. And on each side of the street are saloons, boarding and lodging houses, stores, blacksmith and carpenter's shops, all open and all apparently doing a good business, especially the saloons. Here on this side is a large log house, with rather an imposing front, with a large sign over the door "Kansas Restaurant Day board 7 dollars per Week" and right next is the "Missouri Restaurant," where the accommodations and terms are about the same. But now we begin to get into the business part of the town, and although it is Sunday, every store, shop and saloon is open. Here is the "Leadville Opera House;" the "Selden Irwin Troupe" are playing a rather unsuccessful engagement now and looking on the bill boards we find that they play "The Two Orphans," to-night. On the opposite corner above is the Post Office, and here there is always a crowd of people. There are four deliveries, one for the ladies and three for gentlemen. The first runs from A to G, next H to P, and third Q to Z. On the sign H to P, some irreverent "Leadvillian" has added ell after the H, and a y after the P, which, perhaps, expresses the state of affairs, prevailing in the office, as near as possible. Coming out of the post office and on up the street, we are greeted by the pleasing intelligence, over the door of a saloon that "mixed drinks are only twenty-five cents," while just across the way another sign informs us that we can get "two drinks for twenty-five cents;" but up a little further another man "sees them and goes one better" for he says in large letter, "Straight Drinks only ten cents."

Now we are among the gambling houses. The doors are all wide open, and every one has a bar in the front, and perhaps another in the rear, and all have music playing. Some have a piano, violin and cornet; some have a harp, violin and fife, but all have music of some sort, and the games are carried on openly, no attempt whatever at concealment. Near the door is a man dealing "Short Faro," further on they are playing "High Ball Poker," a wheel of fortune is put up at the end of the hall, and that old California game of "Keno" occupies a large space, while various other games that I have not yet learned the names of, are being carried on at various tables around the hall; but the heaviest betting seems to be done at the Faro tables. I cannot tell you how many gambling houses there are in Leadville, but I venture to say that there are enough to win all the money of those who patronize them.

Here on one side is the "Tontine Hotel," with an elegantly equipped bar in front, and opposite the "Grand Hotel" with a bar in the rear. The income derived from licenses for keeping saloons must be enormous, and should nearly pay all municipal expenses. The cost of a license is three hundred dollars for six months.

The crowds of people on this street is something wonderful. I never saw it equalled on Washington St., Boston, or Broadway, New York; it is simply almost impossible to get through it, and if one is in a hurry, they have to take the middle of the street, and that is but little better, for it is full of teams, horses, oxen and mules. We passed the Coliseum Theatre coming up, and here with an entrance through two gambling halls, is the "Theatre Comique." I will not in this letter attempt any description of the performances, but will simply say that the "Can Can" is advertised for to night. Perhaps in a future letter I may give your readers a description of the entertainment offered to the refined public of Leadville, by these enterprising theatrical companies. Coming out of the Comique at the other entrance, which is only through one gambling hall and two bar rooms, and crossing the street we find ourselves in front of two large dance halls, both running, and both crowded; each of them have two bars, one in front for the accommodation of the general public, and one in the rear, so that when fatigued by dancing gentlemen can have refreshments for their fair partners. The refreshments always come in between every dance. Some may ask, is there nothing in Leadville but gambling houses, bar rooms and brothels, are there no churches? Oh yes there are churches here, for here is one right on the corner of Chestnut Street and Harrison Avenue. It is sort of a Gothic structure, and that people may know that it is a church, it has the name "Little Church" painted on the glass door, and under it another notice, not usually seen on church doors, "Mixed drinks 25c."

The band is out marching in front of a large transparency, which is being carried about the streets by four men, giving notice that there is to be a grand opening to-night at the "Comique, 'benefit of the Howland Sisters'" while above all is heard the noise of thousands of tramping feet on the wooden walks, the shouting and cursing of drunken men and noise of teams, till we are glad to escape the noise and confusion by leaving the crowd, and going up on the "hill" where it is comparatively quiet. Now we are in a Maine neighborhood for in addition to many other Maine people living here, are the W. boys and right near them six Bangor boys are tenting, Mel, Jimmy, Frank, Charley, Tom and George, and evenings we get together and talk of home and friends and enjoy ourselves, I think, fully as well as the drunken rabble below. The Boys expect to "strike it rich" soon. I hope they may I cannot keep those mule teams out of my mind, they amuse me one just passed, and when abreast of the house, one of the mules lifted up his voice in song, but the driver reached for him with his long whip and cut short his melody before he had executed a half dozen notes, that mule has no ear for music.

I have just heard from my friend Hatch of the "Boore" fame. I knew that must would strike it. He has opened a boarding and lodging house and calls it the Maine Hotel and in addition to the name of the house over the door he has the following sign, "Rest for the Weary and Storage for Trunks."

But I must close for 'tis the Sabbath evening and naught breaks the holy calm that seems to pervade all nature save the rumbling of the big bass drum in a band of seven pieces the joyful fiddle and cornet, as they make sweet music for flying feet to keep time with in gay dance halls, the yelling and swearing of numerous mule whackers and bull punchers to their unruly teams, and the howling of scores of drunken men while above all the beautiful moon looks calmly down and the evening star just smiling behind the distant range seems to say good night T

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE IN RELATION TO THE $10 PREMIUM

The Committee appointed by the Penobscot Farmers' Club to make rules for the competitors for the ten dollar premium offered by Mr Veazie make the following report

The Hon John W Veazie

ST. NICHOLAS,

Scribner's Illustrated Magazine

FOR GIRLS AND BOYS.

AN IDEAL CHILDREN'S MAGAZINE.

Messrs. SCRIBNER & Co., in 1873, began the publication of ST. NICHOLAS, an Illustrated Magazine for Girls and Boys, with Mrs. Mary Mapes Dodge as editor. Five years have passed since the first number was issued, and the magazine has won the highest position. It has a monthly circulation of OVER 50,000 COPIES.

It is published simultaneously in London and New York, and the transatlantic recognition is almost as general and hearty as the American. Although the progress of the magazine has been a steady advance, it has not reached its editor's ideals of best, because her ideal continually outruns it, and the magazine as swiftly follows after. To-day ST. NICHOLAS stands

Alone in the World of Books:

The New-York Tribune has said of it "ST. NICHOLAS has reached a higher platform, and commands for its service wider resources in art and letters than any of its predecessors or contemporaries." The London Literary World says "There is no magazine for the young that can be said to equal this choice production of Scribner's press."

Good Things for 1878–9.

The arrangements for literary and art contributions for the new volume—the sixth—are complete, drawing from already favorite sources, as well as from promising new ones. Mr. Frank R. Stockton's new serial story for boys,

"A JOLLY FELLOWSHIP,"

Will run through the twelve monthly parts,—beginning with the number for November, 1878, the first of the volume,—and will be illustrated by James E. Kelly. The story is one of travel and adventure in Florida and the Bahamas. For the girls, a continued tale,

"Half a Dozen Housekeepers,"

By Katharine D. Smith, with illustrations by Frederick Dielman, begins in the same number, and a fresh serial by Susan Coolidge, entitled "Eyebright," with plenty of pictures, will be commenced early in the volume. There will also be a continued fairy tale called

"Rumpty Dudget's Tower,"

Written by Julian Hawthorne, and illustrated by Alfred Fredericks. About the other familiar features of St. Nicholas, the editor preserves a good humored silence, content, perhaps, to let her five volumes already issued, prophesy concerning the sixth, in respect to short stories, pictures, poems, humor, instructive sketches, and the lure and lore of "Jack in the Pulpit," the "Very Little Folks" department, and the "Letter box," and "Riddle box."

Terms, $3 00 a year, 25 cents a Number.

Subscriptions received by the Publisher of this Paper, and by all Booksellers and Postmasters. Persons wishing to subscribe direct with the publishers should write name, Post-office, County, and State, in full, and send with remittance in check, P. O. money order, or registered letter to

SCRIBNERS MONTHLY,

CONDUCTED BY J. G. HOLLAND.

The Handsomest Illustrated Magazine in the World.

The American edition of this periodical is now

MORE THAN 70,000 MONTHLY,

And it has a larger circulation in England than any other American magazine. Every number contains about one hundred and fifty pages, and from fifty to seventy-five original wood cuts illustrations.

Announcements for 1878–9.

Among the attractions for the coming year are the following:

"HAWORTH'S," a serial novel, by Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett, author of "That Lass o' Lowrie's." The scene of Mrs. Burnett's new novel is laid in Lancashire; the hero is a young inventor of American birth. "Haworth's" is the longest story Mrs. Burnett has yet written. It will run through twelve numbers of the Monthly, beginning with November, 1878, and will be profusely illustrated.

FALCONBERG, a serial novel, by H. H. Boyesen, author of "Gunnar," "The Man who Lost His Name," &c. In this romance, the author graphically describes the peculiarities of Norse immigrant life in a Western Settlement.

A STORY OF NEW ORLEANS, by George W. Cable, to be begun on the conclusion of "Falconberg." This story will exhibit the state of society in Creole Louisiana about the years 1803-4-5, the time of the Cession, and a period bearing a remarkable likeness to the present Reconstruction period.

PORTRAITS OF AMERICAN POETS. This series (begun in August with the portrait of Bryant) will be continued, that of Longfellow appearing in November. These portraits are drawn from life by Wyatt Eaton, and engraved by T. Cole. They will be printed separately on tinted paper, as frontispieces of four different numbers. Illustrated sketches of the lives of the poets will accompany these portraits.

STUDIES IN THE SIERRAS.—A series of papers (mostly illustrated) by John Muir, the California naturalist. The most graphic and picturesque, and, at the same time, exact and trustworthy studies of "The California Alps" that have yet been made. The series will sketch the California Passes, Lakes, Wind Storms and Forests.

A NEW VIEW OF BRAZIL. Mr Herbert H. Smith, of Cornell University, a companion of the late Prof. Hartt, is now in Brazil, with Mr J. Wells Champney (the artist who accompanied Mr. Edward King in his tour through "The Great South"), preparing for SCRIBNER a series of papers on the present condition—the cities, rivers and resources of the great empire of South America.

THE "JOHNNY REB" PAPERS, by an "ex Confederate" soldier, will be among the raciest contributions to Scribner during the coming year. They are written and illustrated by Mr. Allen C. Redwood, of Baltimore. The first of the series, "Johnny Reb at Play," appears in the November number.

THE BANGOR DAILY
WHIG and COURIER

will commence its Forty Sixth Volume with the New Year, with all departments fully equipped and prepared to maintain its position as one of

The Leading Daily Papers of New England.

THE WHIG AND COURIER receives all the telegraphic news of the Maine Associated Press, and has an extensive corps of correspondents throughout the State, with special writers at the State and National Capitals. The Publishers aim to make it in all respects a devoting care to the presentation of entertaining and instructive news and literary matter, to the encouragement of Agriculture, manufacturing and other home interests, with original and selected stories and poetry, book reviews, and choice miscellany.

First Class Family Newspaper,

ITS REGULAR REPORTS

will give the proceedings of Congress and the State Legislature, with telegraphic quotations of the Produce and Financial Markets, and events at Augusta this winter will be chronicled daily by a thoroughly informed special correspondent.

IN THE POLITICAL FIELD

the WHIG AND COURIER will continue to advocate and uphold the Principles of the Republican Party, while claiming to be independent, in the highest and best sense of the word. Fearless and outspoken in the treatment of all public questions and firmly maintaining what they believe to be right, they will avoid intolerance and make their appeals to the understanding rather than to prejudice. The coming year will be one of the most important in the political history of the country, and the WHIG AND COURIER congratulates itself that the Republican Party of the Union will enter the year 1879 united upon the platform of Principles which that paper has steadfastly maintained while so many wavered. Its aim will be in the future, as in the past, to give the earliest and most reliable information and to favor only such measures and policy as will best protect the rights and promote the welfare of all the people.

The Whig and Courier

will be sent by mail postage paid, at the following rates, invariably in advance:

$8 00 per year, $4 00 for 6 mos., $2 for 3 mos.
$1 60 for the session of the Legislature.

THE BANGOR WEEKLY COURIER

is the largest weekly paper published in New England. Every issue is accompanied by a two-page Supplement, making a newspaper of almost entirely devoted to reading matter. It contains all the latest telegraph news up to the hour of going to press, and gives the substance of a whole week's edition of the Daily, with a large amount of family reading.

FORTY-EIGHT COLUMNS

Terms, postage paid, in advance:
$2 00 per year, $1 00 for 6 mos., $50 cts for 3 mos.

Or to Clubs in any one town:
15 copies 1 year, $27 00; 25 copies 1 year, $43 75; 50 copies 1 year, $75 00, with copy free to person remitting money for the club.

Send for a free specimen copy.

LETTER CARRIERS.

All letters are delivered free by carriers when addressed to street and number. People should inform their correspondents of above and have their letters addressed accordingly.

Persons leaving their address at the General Delivery can also have their letters sent, but it is much more convenient to have the street and number on, and they will be delivered earlier than if the same is put on at the office. Carriers make two deliveries daily, the first trip supplying the extremes of their routes.

Collections are made morning and evening in season for important mails—the down town boxes fifteen and the up town boxes thirty minutes before closing mails at the office.

Holidays the Carrier's Window will be open for the delivery of letters from 8½ to 9½ A. M., and from 7½ to 8½ P. M. Sundays from 8½ to 9½ A. M.

Any irregularities in the Carriers' department should be reported to the office.

ENVELOPES.

No additional charge will be made for printing the name and request to return, across the left hand upper corner of the envelopes furnished by the Post Office Department, (samples of which may be seen at the Cashier's window,) when ordered in lots of not less than 500.

A request for the return of a letter to the writer, if unclaimed within thirty days, or less, written or printed, with the writer's name, post office and State, across the left end of the envelope, on the face side, will be complied with.

The public are earnestly recommended to procure Stamped envelopes with printed return request, as the expense is less, and letters thus endorsed, if not delivered to the person addressed, are returned to the writer free of charge.

First class envelopes of above furnished at $32 per thousand.

Stamps cut from Stamped Envelopes cannot be used to prepay postage. The use of such Stamps is punishable by a fine of fifty dollars.

Stamped Envelopes, spoiled in directing, are redeemed at this office.

DOMESTIC POSTAGE

FIRST CLASS.

All Letters must be Pre-paid.—Letters for the Mails in the United States, three cents the half ounce or single rate. City letters, two cents half ounce or single rate.

SECOND CLASS.

Newspapers.

All regular newspapers must be prepaid at the office of publication, at the rate of two cents per pound for each issue. The same law applies to dealers.

County papers free, except to letter carrier offices, the papers coming to this office, if published in County, are subject to postage. Daily papers published in County, if delivered by carrier, one cent each, to be prepaid by stamps.

Postage to Canada.—Same as in the States on letters and papers, pre-payment compulsory, merchandise limited to 8 oz., postage 10 cents.

THIRD CLASS.

TRANSIENT PRINTED MATTER AND BOOKS AND MERCHANDISE.

One Cent for Two Ounces.

Almanacs, books (printed), calendars, catalogues, corrected proofs, hand bills, magazines, maps—lithographed or engraved—music, printed sheets, newspapers, occasional publications, pamphlets, posters, proof sheets, prospectuses.

One cent for each ounce.

Blank books, blank cards, book manuscripts, card boards and other flexible materials, chromo lithographs, circulars, engravings, envelopes, flexible patterns, letter envelopes, letter paper, lithographs, merchandise, models, ornamental paper, postal cards when sent in bulk and not addressed, photographic views, photographic paper, printed blanks, printed cards, sample cards, samples of ores, metals, minerals and merchandise, seeds, cuttings, bulbs roots and scions, stereoscopic views.

All packages of matter of third class must be so wrapped or enveloped, with open sides or ends, that their contents may be readily and thoroughly examined by postmasters without destroying the wrappers.

The sender of a package of third class matter may write his or her name on the wrapper with the word "from," but nothing more, without subjecting the whole to letter postage.

Third class matter can be registered by paying the fee of ten cents.

ADVERTISED LETTERS.

All letters remaining in the office are advertised on Monday of each week. If not claimed in one month thereafter, they are then forwarded to the Dead Letter office.

MONEY ORDERS.

Especial attention is called to the Money Order system, as a safe and cheap method of transmitting small sums through the mails. Orders are issued in sums of not more than fifty dollars. Larger amounts can be transmitted to the same person, at the same time, by additional orders.

RATES.

On orders not exceeding $15,	10 cents.
" over $15 and not exceeding $30,	15 cents.
" over $30 and not exceeding $40,	20 cents.
